THE STORY ABOUT HOTEL DAGMAR

"He who has not visited Ribe, slept one night at "Hotel Dagmar" and heard the quaterbell beats from the Cathedral, does not know Denmark"

Thus, once wrote the famous journalist and writer Andreas Vinding ... and one can only agree with him!

Hotel Dagmar - with the 900 year old Cathedral as a neighbour, is not only beautiful to see with its red walls and the beautiful tile roof, but also a historical attraction in Denmark's oldest city

The original house on "Torvet" was destroyed by fire in 1580, but councillor and later mayor Laurids Thøgersen had a new stately farm built in 1581.

After having been in the possession of the prosperous Baggesens family, the house from about 1700 became the residence of Ribe's founding presidents, a kind of Mayor of the City. The first president of the house was Carsten Worm, grandson of the famous Ole Worm.

On Peter Ussing's death in 1788, the presidency was abolished, and from about 1800 it became "Gjæstgivergård". Some remember the former president's residence referred to as "Greisens Hotel" or "Gæstgivergården".

The name "Hotel Dagmar" first appeared in 1912 in connection with a major renovation.
